

Ultimatum to Surrender Aachen

Churchill, Stalin Talk 3 Hours

Harriman, U. S. Ambassador, Was Not Present, but Was Kept Informed

By Daniel De Luce

MOSCOW, Oct. 10 — (P) — Prime Minister Churchill talked with Marshal Stalin for three hours in the Kremlin last night and conferred today with the British diplomatic and military staff before starting a second meeting with the Russian premier.

W. Averell Harriman, U. S. ambassador, was kept fully informed by the British delegation, although he was not present at the Kremlin last night.

Churchill was understood to be presenting his views on questions in Europe and elsewhere — views which were said to have been fully endorsed before he left the Quebec conference with President Roosevelt.

The latest indications were that his visit would last throughout this week.

The Briton's presence in Moscow coincided with two important statements in the Russian press. One expressed flat opposition to altering the principal of a unanimous vote by the four major Allied powers on the International Security Council, in case of aggression. The other statement disclosed a Russian plan for developing oil resources in the northern part of Iran.

Some fields of Iran (Persia) have been controlled by Britain for more than a century. The country now is occupied jointly by British troops in the south and Russians in the north.

Talked of Nazi Defeat

One obvious topic of the Churchill-Stalin conversation, was the details of final defeat and occupation of Germany. Another was the general outline of postwar Europe. The possibility was not excluded that the exchange of opinions would include other areas of the world.

Izvestia, praised the Dumbarton Oaks plan for international security, stoutly supporting the principle of a unanimous four-power agreement on cases of aggression.

Storm of Debate Ahead

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 — (P) — Government plans to put the United States into a world organization backed by force headed for a storm of national debate today, with President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull apparently seeking to prevent possible disagreement of any single issue from wrecking the whole enterprise.

This strategy is considered responsible for the determination of officials to refrain from bringing into the debate the question of whether congress should have to give its approval each time the world organization calls for American men, guns, ships and planes to suppress a threatening aggressor.

Many Injured In Commuters' Train Wreck

Trainman Says Brakes Failed as Train Slowed Down

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10 — (P) — At least 22 persons were injured and hundreds of others dazed when a crowded commuters' train, its brakes reported failing, crashed into the rear of a parked train in the Pennsylvania railroad's suburban station in mid-city Philadelphia today.

Most of the 350 passengers in the five-car Chestnut Hill local were thrown to the aisles in a spray of shattering window glass as the trains came together with a roar that rumbled through the building and sub-surface concourses.

Women passengers screamed and fainted. Passengers standing up waiting to disembark tumbled over in piles. Seats were wrenched loose and the first coach of the moving electric train and the rear of the parked train were wrecked. The shock shattered windows even in the doors of coaches.

Pinned Under Seat

Ambulances from four hospitals were sent into the crowded station. A WAC lieutenant, Ann Whitaker of Philadelphia, pinned under a seat, was left in the wreckage until she could be strapped to a stretcher, because of the possibility she had suffered internal injuries.

Railroad porters and other workers wheeled some of the injured to the surface in waiting wheel chairs.

The accident occurred at the peak of the morning rush hour. Hundreds in the street floors of the building, leaving for downtown offices, returned to the underground tubes when the crash sounded.

A railroad company spokesman quoted the moving train's engineer, E. E. Schultz, 38, as saying the brakes failed as the train pulled into the station, which is opposite downtown Rebyburn Plaza.

An official company investigation was started.

He leaves his wife, who was in New Jersey with him, his father in California, one brother, Bob McLaughlin, now in the navy and in the Pacific area, and one sister, Mrs. Dorothy Mitchell of California, whose husband, Lloyd Mitchell, is in radio work in the Pacific war area.

The body will be taken to Escondido where funeral services will be held Sunday.

It is very urgent that you call telephone 130 immediately and make your appointment.

Ninety-three more registrations are needed for Wednesday.

Today is Missouri Pacific day and the required number of pints will be obtained.

Buses have been donated by Mrs. Mary A. Siegel of the Sedalia Bus company and by A. B. Fletcher of the Des Moines and Southern Bus company to take the men to the Blood bank from the shops and back again.

Caught in Jap Trap, Escapes

WITH THE 32ND INFANTRY DIVISION IN NEW GUINEA—

An infantry patrol set a trap for the Jap, but when the trap was sprung, Pvt. William B. Hudson, Sedalia, Mo., and three of his comrades were in it.

The patrol set an ambush for an approaching Jap column, and when the enemy entered the trap at least twelve of them were mowed down. The Japs, who greatly outnumbered the Yank infantrymen, began to outflank them. The patrol leader withdrew his men, but in the confusion, Hudson and three others did not hear the order. They

Hitler Lauds Nazi Youths For Sacrifice

LONDON, Oct. 10 — (P) — The German radio said that Hitler lauded German youths today for what he called their "fanatical will to sacrifice in the hour of danger to our country."

The message, broadcast by the official German news agency DNB, was the first reported utterance from the German chancellor since shortly after the reported attempt on his life July 20.

The message was in reply to a report from Reich youth leader Axmann that 80 percent of Potsdam's Hitler Youth had volunteered for military service.

"With pride and joy I learned of the volunteers of the 1928 class," Hitler said. "In the hour of danger for our country their spirit and sacrifice has been a shining example."

Weather May Delay Action In Philippines

Typhoons Give Advantage to The Japanese

By Leonard Milliman
Associated Press War Editor

American amphibious troops in the western Pacific have established a firm beachhead on another of the Palau islands—the tenth to be invaded in less than a month.

Only light opposition was encountered by soldiers of the 81st Army Division when they landed on Garakayo islet and pushed inland. Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced last night. Garakayo is two and a half miles north of Peleliu where U. S. forces hold a fair fleet anchorage and a good airfield, both of which will be used to support Gen. Douglas MacArthur's forthcoming invasion of the Philippines.

Twenty-five Liberators, escorted by fighters, made the first neutralizing strike at Zamboanga, which has been a fortress guarding the southwestern tip of the Philippines since Spanish days. Huge fires were blazing on the waterfront, half a dozen seaplanes destroyed and three small ships set afire.

Weather May Interfere

Nimitz indicated that weather conditions may delay the Philippine invasion. "The typhoons have given us much trouble," he said, and will give the Japanese a defensive advantage until the stormy season ends in December.

The admiral expressed concern over the present situation in China. He said "We must make landings on the China coast in order to secure a land mass close enough to bomb Japa with all the air power available."

"The Pacific fleet is strong enough in combat vessels to go anywhere," Nimitz said, and "when we have the means to do it we will get the bases in China that we want."

Chinese Need Equipment

The Chinese, soberly celebrating the 33rd anniversary of the founding of the republic, were called upon by War Minister Ho Ying-Chin to increase production of military supplies.

The China-based 14th U. S. Air Force, operating from crowded Luichow airfield, slashed at Japanese airdromes and land and river supply lines for enemy troops pressing toward the only remaining American air base in Southeast China.

American bombers twice hit Marcus island, 1,133 miles south-east of Tokyo, and Iwo island, 750 miles south of the Japanese capital. Marine Corsairs from Peleliu raided Babelthup, largest of the Palau islands. Long range Liberators again set fires in Japan's essential Borneo oil refineries at Balikpapan.

Nazi Garrison Given 24 Hours To Give up or Take Consequences

By Don Whitehead

WITH U. S. TROOPS OUTSIDE AACHEN, Oct. 10 — (P) — A doomed city lies before the American First Army. Aachen is under paper bombardment from our 105 millimeter guns which are hurling in 200 shells which burst in the air and tell German soldiers and civilians they must surrender within 24 hours or see Aachen obliterated.

Time is running out for Aachen. The messengers demanding its unconditional surrender have been back from their mission for two hours and there has been no reply from the city. A chill autumn rain slants down on its old structures.

The deadline to determine whether it shall die outright is 10:50 a. m. tomorrow.

Just before 1 p. m., today three men walked slowly back into the American command post here from the interior of the city. These were Lt. Cedric Lafley, Enosburg Falls, Vt.; Lt. William Boehme, New York City (no street address); and Pvt. Kenneth Kading, La Grange, Ill.

They were back from Aachen with a white flag made from a bedsheet which they carried in to present to the German command and the mayor of Aachen the ultimatum of the United States Army.

Lafley actually carried the messages. Boehme acted as interpreter. The young, tall and spike-haired Kading, gulping with nervous excitement at his participation in this memorable mission, carried the bedsheet as a flag of truce.

Neither Elated Nor Depressed

They looked neither elated nor depressed as they told newsmen what had happened. Eventually, they had to present the American demands to a young German second lieutenant, because of inability to reach any higher officer. But nobody was impressed by this, for it was only the German garrison commander who could decide. What he is to decide is yet to develop.

Here is the story of their march into Aachen and back:

They rode in a jeep to our forward line here at the railroad tracks right on the edge of the city. From there they walked into the city, Kading striding down the middle of the streets carrying the bedsheet, and the other two flanking him.

They reached a smashed underpass and, peering through the gloom, sighted three German soldiers. Recognizing the flag of truce, the Germans waved for the Americans to come on.

Were Blindfolded

"They blindfolded us with our own handkerchiefs," Boehme said. "I told them we had a message for the German commandant and one of the German soldiers asked what it was. I said it was information for the commandant. Then I heard one of the soldiers whisper to another: 'I hope it is a reasonable offer.'"

"They were leading us now by holding onto our arms. There was some rubble underfoot but not much. We took quite a long walk and then we got to what I believe was a German company headquarters. It was the living room of a small house.

"A young German second lieutenant was there. He was pretty stiff and he and his soldiers there half-healed us when he got in and they took off our blindfolds. They stuck their arms half way up in a kind of salute.

"I told the lieutenant we wanted to see the troop commander. He didn't answer, but just told one of his men to take us to another command post.

"They blindfolded us again and we were off again—this time to a battalion command post. This was another long and zig-zaggy walk. We ended up in a cellar this time and I heard a dog barking somewhere nearby. At this place, we saw a lieutenant who was a battalion adjutant.

Men Looked Tough

"I gave him two envelopes, each one addressed both to the German commandant of Aachen and to the burgemeister and told him to give them to his commanding officer.

"Most of the Germans we saw while we were there in Aachen wore ribbons of the Russian campaigns. They looked tough."

Lafley, who had been standing nodding quietly, entered the story at this point:

"He signed a receipt for those papers and I put down the time (Please turn to Page 4, Column 5)

Merry-go-Round

by Drew Pearson

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 10 — Through uncensored diplomatic sources, the inside story of the fall of the Tojo cabinet has just been received. It indicates the increasing difficulties the Japs have been experiencing. Also it indicates more and more friction between the Jap war lords and the Jap merchant princes, both now jockeying for power.

To some extent the row inside Japan has had its parallel in the feud between the U. S. army and navy and certain $1-a-year men in the War Production Board.

News is so censored out of Japan that the true picture is hard to get. But, according to this authentic report, Admiral Tojo's overthrow as premier resulted not only from military defeat but from his inability to control the giant Jap cartels — Mitsui, Mitsubishi, Sumitomo and Yasuda. These firms were founded by the merchant princes of Japan after Admiral Perry opened Japan's doors to the outside world, in 1854. They own shipyards, steel plants, munitions factories, steamship lines, department stores — almost every major industry in Nippon.

About three months before Pearl Harbor, Japan formed the "New Economic Structure." Most U. S. and British commentators got the idea that this was a plan whereby the Jap military ruled over business. Actually it was just the reverse.

Super-Cartels Instituted

The New Economic Structure set up a series of super-cartels or control associations. Theoretically, these control associations were public organizations embracing an entire industry and responsible to the Ministry of Commerce and Industry. But in reality the executives of big industry were given the key jobs in the control associations, somewhat as $1-a-year men have supervised their own industries in the War Production Board.

For instance, the man appointed to head the iron and steel control association was Hachisaburo Hiraio, a Mitsubishi man, formerly president of the Iron and Steel Manufacturers' Federation. This is comparable to the Iron and Steel Institute in the United States.

The New Economic Structure, created Sept. 1, 1942, worked well during Japan's easy victories at Pearl Harbor and immediately thereafter. But when Japan began to lose in the Solomons, in the fall of 1942, and as Jap merchant shipping was decimated by U. S. submarines, the Japanese economic structure became sorely taxed.

Tojo needed more ships, more planes and more guns and the New Economic Structure was not producing fast enough. So finally, at the Diet session of January, 1943, he demanded emergency powers to deal with the economic crisis. The big Jap cartels, however, bucked.

Tojo's Control Hampered
For a time opposition was so tough that Admiral Tojo had to postpone the Diet session and feigned "illness" as an excuse. In fact, he was so slow getting control of Jap industry that his middle-of-the-road methods aroused the resentment of the extreme "National Socialists" and the left wing of his military-Fascists. They fumed and fretted. Some of them, headed by Seigo Nakano, who admired Hitler's storm troop methods, urged the nationalization of all industry.

Nakano had been a strong supporter of Admiral Tojo, but Japanese big business was so resentful that they persuaded Tojo to withdraw the support of his Imperial Rule Assistance Political Association when Nakano ran for the Diet. Despite that, Nakano was elected by a large majority.

But in October, 1943, when Nakano attempted to organize a putsch against the "conservative" tendencies of the Tojo government, the police nipped it in the bud and he committed suicide.

Later, toward the end of 1943, Admiral Tojo made a new attempt to strengthen his grip over the country. Calling a special session of the Diet, he formed a new Munitions Ministry, headed by himself, and placed all war production under it. This, it was hoped, would speed the output of planes, ships and guns.

Theoretically, this subordinated all business to army control, as far as the planning and direction of war production went. However, Tojo's power didn't last long. Japanese big business moved in during November, 1943, and forced the addition of several businessmen to the cabinet. They had the effect of negating the army's industrial power.

Military and Princes Clash
Probably if Tojo had been winning victories, during this period, he could have won out in his cabinet struggle. But Japan was suffering bitter military reverses. The military were blaming them on the princes were blaming them on the military.

Finally Tojo fell. Premier Koiso, who replaced him, has made no attempt to control the cartels. His most important appointment, to the all-important post of Munitions Minister, the post which Tojo created for himself was that of Ginjiro Fujiwara a Mitsui man.

As soon as Fujiwara became the Minister of Munitions he made it clear that this was a major victory for business over the army and navy by taking over all army-navy arsenals.

Thus Japan's merchant princes have strengthened their hold over the cabinet. Before the war they never were too sympathetic with the Japanese military. And as the war goes increasingly against Japan it is possible that the merchant princes may try to dump the military entirely and sue for a soft peace. They may try to sell the idea that the Allies can come to a

"safe" agreement with the "moderate" elements in Japan. Though how long it will last is problematical.

Miss Ruth Fitzgerald, teacher of English at the Central Missouri State Teachers' College, Warrensburg, was speaker at Sorosis club Monday afternoon and was introduced by Mrs. Arthur Hoffman, chairman of the Art and Drama department.

Miss Fitzgerald spoke on the subject: "The Historical Background of Mother Goose." As late as 1927 many wondered who wrote Mother Goose rhymes that had been popular for 150 years but in 1930 Catherine Thomas wrote a book, "The Real Personages of Mother Goose," and was from this that Miss Fitzgerald found most of her material. Three nations wrangled over possession of the rhymes and it was finally decided that the name, "Mother Goose," was of French origin, the rhymes were British and the first publication was in the United States by a printer named Thomas Fleet.

In reality the rhymes are satires of English personages, introduced as street songs and date back to Old King Cole in the third century. They were on love, politics and religion. Richard II inspired "Humpty Dumpty." Henry VII "I Love a Sixpence" and Henry VIII "To Market, to Market, to buy a fat pig," when he married a wealthy woman.

Francis Drake's return to England inspired "I saw a ship a-sailing," and Mary, Queen of Scots, was "Mary, Mary quite contrary." Political entanglements account for many rhymes, "Little Bo Peep" was inspired when Mary lost the

Do you ever long for the "good old days" with heaps of fluffy rich whipped cream on desserts? Well, they are here again! Just get a can of DARICRAFT ice cold, and in a jiffy you can beat it into the best whipped desserts you ever used. And you should try FROZEN whipped DARICRAFT! Here's how—

Frozen Whipped Daricraft
1/2 cup ice-cold DARICRAFT
2 teaspoons lemon juice

Whip until fluffy, add grated lemon rind and 3 tablespoons sugar. Whip again and place in refrigerator tray for 2 hours.

This may be kept frozen for future use on desserts or fruit salads. It really peeps up any dessert. And here's a secret for you who have to watch your calories, too. While DARICRAFT TASTES so good it isn't TOO RICH. Get a can today at you grocers and put it on ice so that it will be ready for that "special" occasion when you MUST have whipped cream. DARICRAFT is an evaporated milk that really has an improved flavor due to a special process. Vitamin D is also added, and nothing but 50% of the water, in pure fresh whole milk has been removed. DARICRAFT is WONDERFUL in cooking and baking, too. Try it.

War has proved the value of considerate driving.
And now this fine national habit keeps spreading.

There's been a fellow-feeling about cars. When it comes to even a dented fender it's no longer a question of who's to blame, but of sparing one another from costly slow repairs—and footwork. Some such spirit has been making live-and-let-live driving so general. It's only logical to be fully as thoughtful of your engine. You'll exercise wise foresight by having it OIL-PLATED.

You can defy internal acid corrosion... engine suicide!... by means of OIL-PLATING. You can do it by changing to popular-priced patented Conoco Nth motor oil—energized to surface your engine's interior with an acid-resistant shield of OIL-PLATING. This is the result of the special Conoco Nth ingredient developed by costly pioneer research. And while fluid oil alone goes draining down to the crankcase, OIL-PLATING remains as closely attached as if it were chromium plating—keeps on serving its special purpose of hampering contact between corrosive acids and metals!

These unavoidable acids of combustion—always bad—reach their worst in cold weather, when there is rarely heat enough to get rid of acids. Hence they linger inside—aplenty. But every OIL-PLATED surface is armed against the spread of acid corrosion. That's why you want Conoco Nth oil now...from Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. He knows your correct seasonal grade. PIN-WORMS GO! New Treatment Gets Real Results

Anyone who has ever had Pin-Worms knows how tormenting and embarrassing this affliction can be, and how hard it is to eliminate the ugly crawling creatures once they get a foothold inside the body. Millions of people—rich and poor, children and grown-ups—have suffered in silence with the miseries of Pin-Worms, and doctors have tried for years to find a way to deal with this pest. Old-fashioned worm "cures" usually don't work on Pin-Worms. Today, thanks to an important scientific discovery (a remarkable drug known as Pin-Worm tablets developed by the laboratory of Dr. D. Jayne & Son, America's leading specialists in worm medicines), Pin-Worms can be easily and safely eliminated. The small, convenient P-W tablets act in a special way to destroy the creatures. Don't take chances with Pin-Worms! Just ask your druggist for P-W, and be sure to follow the directions. P-W means Pin-Worm relief!

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with a burning and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Backache Remedy, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 million of kidney troubles flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Star Farmer In the Army, Award to Wife

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 10.—(P)—For the first time in the history of the award, the $500 check from the Weekly Kansas City Star and other recognitions of the National star farmer went to a woman here last night.

Mrs. Elton Ellison, winsome brunette, accepted the award from W. A. Cocheil, editor of the Weekly Star, in behalf of her husband, farmer from Ralls, Texas, who now, as a private in Uncle Sam's army, is stationed at Camp Roberts, Calif.

Whistling applause from the 350 delegates to the seventeenth annual convention of Future Farmers of America caused Mr. Cocheil to add to his presentation remarks: "We congratulate Ellison also for his good judgment." The bride of three months, dressed in black velvet with a hat of black sequins, smiled at the audience, thanked them for the honor in Texas-accented words.

Other Winners
 Regional and state winners announced at the session included: Erwin E. Thalman, 18, Haven, Kas., star farmer of the north central region and also of Kansas. Amelio Bell, 22, Fallon, Nev., Pacific region.

Robert Lawler, 19, Mt. Gilead, O., North Atlantic region. Joe Espey, 18, Maryville, Mo., Missouri.

Pete Gunn, 19, Temple, Okla., Oklahoma.

Ewell Ray Coleman, Dowdy, Ark., Arkansas.

Young Ellison, a 20-year-old Texan, was well started on his career as a farmer, having the land, equipment and livestock when he received his call from Uncle Sam a few weeks ago. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Ellison of near Ralls, Texas, who have been tenant farmers until recently. The lad got his vocational agriculture training in 1937, putting in eight acres of cotton and two of milo on land rented from his father and using money he had saved and borrowed. He netted $316.

Went on His Own
 He struck out for himself in 1942, buying a tractor and renting a farm. He raised 191 acres of milo, 19.6 acres of cotton and four of sudan grass and fed out 32 hogs. His labor income for the 1942-43 period was $3,805. Then, with $2,000 which he advanced, he and his father bought the 260-acre farm on which the family now lives, Elton claiming a 10-per cent interest.

Farm Bureau President Tells Farmers All Should Use Ballot

Pointing to the fact that only 62 per cent of the eligible voters actually voted in the 1940 presidential election, Olen Monsees, president of the Pettis County Farm Bureau, today issued a statement urging a heavy turnout at the polls on November 7.

"It is our duty, not only as rural and small-town citizens, but as Americans," said Mr. Monsees. "Voting is a right—a privilege—for which our sons and brothers are fighting in many parts of the world today. It is our duty to them and to ourselves to vote in this national election when so many crucial issues are at stake."

Mr. Monsees' statement came in response to an appeal from the American Farm Bureau Federation which was sent by R. W. Brown, president of the Missouri Farm Bureau Federation to presidents of all county organizations. The Farm Bureau Federation is now carrying on a nation-wide campaign, strictly non-partisan, urging rural America to vote in the November elections.

Powerful Rural Voice
 Farmers and citizens of small towns can have a powerful voice in governmental affairs through their representatives if they will get out and vote for the men of their choice, according to Mr. Monsees. He added that rural people have the power to influence national politics if they will only use it. He called attention to the fact that 77 per cent of the senators and 62 per cent of the congressmen come from the districts which have no cities of more than 10,000 population and hence are form of government. In my opinion, farm people carry on a greater responsibility for the preservation of our great tradition of democracy than any other group." In his statement, Mr. Monsees said that although Farm Bureau members, like everyone else, are busy at this time, they and all other rural citizens can take off the necessary hour or two that voting requires. "We should remember," he said, "that our boys in the armed services are giving the best years of their lives to defense of their country. They were not too busy when the call came. We cannot and we will not be too busy to vote. We should every one of us go to the polls November 7 and thereby act as shareholders in America."

GERMANY WILL TRY IT AGAIN
By Sigrid Schultz
Copyright, 1944, by Sigrid Schultz
Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

As an American newspaper correspondent in Berlin from 1919 to 1941, Sigrid Schultz saw at first hand the events that led from World War I to World War II. And she saw the behind-the-scenes preparation for the coming "war-in-peace" that she warns may culminate in World War III. This is the story of Germany's plans to win the peace, plans that even now are being put into effect.

IX
Fuehrer-prisoner decided to write down and analyze his experiences; then to work out in detail methods of carrying on their plan. For this latter purpose he summoned to Landsberg all the experts eager to co-operate in supplying the learning and technical knowledge the conspirators needed.

Hitler mapped out a gigantic program of study, starting with the world and going down the line to continents, races, states, nations, minorities, religions, political parties, organizations, clubs, schools, factories, and finally reaching the individual—the male, the female, and the child. The individual was nothing, the state was all, and they meant to be the state. But the individual ciphers add up to the sum of the state; therefore they must learn the manipulation of the ciphers, how they reacted to various situations, to different varieties of propaganda. Every human emotion that could be exploited to political advantage, from the lowest to the finest, was to be brought into play.

HITLER had seen the canons of the law adroitly perverted to help him during the Munich trial. If he were clever enough, therefore, he could win his victory here, plucking the ripest and biggest legal brains he could reach. Hitler accumulated in time quite an impressive staff of lawyers, Jew

Best Team In Baseball Won World Series
St. Louis Cards Had Fine Pitching, Perfect Infield Play

By Jack Hand
ST. LOUIS, Oct. 10.—(AP)—The best team in baseball won the World Series and that's all it should be.

Superb strikeout pitching and perfect infield play by the St. Louis Cardinals with an occasional flash of power cooled off the Browns' hot streak and left them a beaten ball club, losers 4 games to 2.

Overshadowed by the total of 92 three-strike victims that swept all series records off the books was the routine destruction of American league rallies engineered by Marty Marion and the other Cardinal infielders who supplement Mr. Shortstop. The Red Bird quartet handled 124 chances without a boot while the Brownie inner circle bobbled seven of 126 tries.

It was pitching again in yesterday's finale played before a chilled, topcoated congregation of 31,630, when Billy Southworth's crew regained the world championship they lost to the Yankees a year ago. Outstanding in the Nationals' 3-1 clinching victory was the relief pitching of freshman Ted Wilks who failed miserably on his only start in the third game.

Regained Confidence
The Fulton (NY) Polish lad regained the confidence his 17-4 season record justified by stopping the Browns without a hit in three and two-thirds innings after Starter Max Lanier went haywire in the sixth.

Wilks fanned four and Lanier whiffed five, making it 49 strikeouts thrown by the Card staff for another new record. The previous high for a six-game set was 44 hurled by the Chief Bender-Jack Combs-Eddie Plank trio for the Athletics against the Giants in 1911.

Three singles mixed in with a costly error by Vern Stephens and a walk in the fourth inning scored three runs, overcame the Browns' 1-0 lead and meant the ball game.

Nazis never denied the existence of concentration camps on their own soil; they made no secret of crimes committed in countries conquered by the German people. A subtle form of coercion can hardly be conceived. It brings with it a terrifying fear of retaliation which, in turn, acts as an incentive to fight.

Part of the blueprint for domination perfected in Landsberg called for calculated vilification and calumny of the Republic in the persons of its leaders. Then there was the money check-off from the industrialists and bribes pressed out of Jews trying to buy their future safety. How far could the Nazis go without being charged with libel, blackmail, and extortion? They needed expert legal advice.

FROM Ludendorff Hitler had learned the necessity of striking with a small, closely knit, well-disciplined group. He learned that even a small party, if blindly obedient to its leader, can undermine bigger factions that lack unity and aggressiveness. But how could he extend that obedience to a whole nation?

Rudolf Hess, the former officer and student who worked with Prof. Karl Haushofer at the Munich University, had induced his teacher to go to Landsberg with him and meet Adolf Hitler. The professor was rather apprehensive and so were his hosts. But Hitler had lost some of his shyness. He started propounding his theory that "by compelling even the hesitant to become accomplices in acts of violence, you automatically make them your slaves." Emil Hanfstaengel, then acting as Hitler's secretary, later told of the incident.

"After Hitler had spoken, the professor got up and looked at him for a moment," Maurice said; "then he smiled. We knew that from then on there was nothing the professor would not do for our Fuehrer."

Developing this technique, Hitler was to involve the entire German nation of 65 million people as his accomplices in crime. The

Associated Press Picks Notre Dame To Be Top Football Team This Year

By Spike Claassen
NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(AP)—NOTRE DAME, runaway victor over Pitt and Tulane, was picked today as the top football team in the nation in the first Associated Press poll of the season.

The Irish, who won the mythical national crown last year, but were not expected to be much this fall, polled 800 points, including 34 first place ballots, from 93 sportswriters.

The North Carolina pre-flight Cloudbusters, who started the pigskin world by upsetting navy ten days ago and beat Duke last Saturday, were ranked second with 608 points, including 24 first place votes.
